Description of Resource

The Visual Arts Research Tutorial is designed to provide the student with information literacy knowledge and skills appropriate to undergraduate study in the visual arts.

Learning Strategy

The tutorial steps through the main phases in information research from the initial topic analysis, identification of keywords and search statement, use of a research log, searching and locating resources and evaluating information. The information research process is an iterative process where an initial search statement will be refined in the light of search results and new information discovered through research.

The tutorial is used with VARA (Visual Arts Research Assignment) where first year students in the Art Theory course (1208QCA Modernism & Post Modernism) access the tutorial to develop an effective search strategy which culminates in the student developing three annotated bibliographies. The students submit their answers to activities in the tutorial plus their annotated bibliography.
